TROOP OF CAVALRY TO BE ORGANIZED

Will Be Called "Governor's Horse Guards" in Honor of Locke Craig.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Ashville, N. C., July 21.—That a cavalry troop, to be known as the "Governor's Horse Guards," will be organized here at an early date is practically assured, according to Robert Reynolds, who has been instructed in the project, having been instructed by Adjutant-General H. A. Linscott to proceed with the organization of a troop.

At once, The matter has been taken up with the War Department and a large number of horsemen of this county have expressed their intentions of joining the troop. The company will be called the "Governor's Horse Guards," in honor of Locke Craig, of this city, who has been nominated for Governor by the State Democratic Convention. It is planned to have the troop thoroughly organized by the time set for the inauguration of the next Governor, and if Mr. Craig is elected, the Blue-Wee county troop will accompany him to Raleigh for the inauguration.

Rev. H. Fleets, of this city, who for the past two years has held the pastorate of the Trinity Episcopal Church, of this city, has tendered his resignation to the members of the vestry, and will leave Asheville September 1, the date named as being objective in his resignation. Rev. Mr. Fleets has not yet announced where he will go. He succeeded Dr. G. W. McCreedy as pastor of Trinity two years ago, the latter having accepted a call to Baltimore. Rev. Mr. Fleets came to Asheville from Boston, where he was the assistant rector of one of the leading Episcopal churches of that city.

To succeed J. H. Burckel as secretary of the Asheville County Club, J. H. Ewell was elected by the members of the board of directors at a called meeting Wednesday night. Mr. Burckel has gone to New York City, where he will engage in business, and his successor has had considerable experience in club work. S. Herbert Brown, resigned from the board of directors, on account of the fact that he is to be away from the city for several months, and Alfred S. Barnard was chosen to succeed him.

Jim Johnson, a young white man (Ashville), is in difficulty, being held on a charge of burglary in the first degree. It is alleged that he entered the home of Corn Bell Rich, Victoria, a few nights ago, and pried open a trunk, taking $15 in money and a pistol. He has been given a hearing in Police Court and was bound to the next term of Buncombe County Superior Court.

The members of the Asheville Bar Association have protested that an extra week of criminal court and account of the fact that there are many cases of importance to be heard, and the docket is becoming congested. Two murder cases are on the docket and several other trials of importance are to be held at the next term of court.

W. R. Baird, a former mail clerk between this city and Spartanburg, who is wanted for robbing the mails in 1908, has been captured in Texas, according to advices received by local postal authorities, and will be brought back to Asheville at once for trial in the Federal court. The charge is a rather serious one, it being alleged that the former mail clerk opened letters containing money and took the cash.

The farmers of Western North Carolina held farmers' institutes at Old Fort, the State test farm, at Swannanoa and Weaverville during the latter part of the week, which were largely attended. The meetings proved very interesting and instructive, and women's institutes were held in connection with them in the vicinity of the housewives of the country districts. Lectures were delivered by speakers who were familiar with their subjects, and many matters of interest to the tillers of the soil were discussed informally. The meetings were arranged by T. B. Parker, the director of farmers' institutes.

An unusually sad death was that of Parker, the twelve-year-old son of Abraham W. E. Shuford, who was killed last Thursday afternoon as a 22 caliber rifle with which he was shooting pigeons was discharged, the bullet entering the boy's head just beneath the chin and penetrating the base of the skull. The child was sitting in a wagon in a neighbor's yard and the gun was held in his lap, when it was exploded with fatal results. The funeral services were conducted Saturday morning from the residence, the City Council attending in a body.

FATHER VAN ROSSUM ENJOYS POPE'S FAVOR

Will Represent Holy See at Eucharistic Congress in Vienna.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.
APAL, leatates have usually been selected from among those cardinals who have acquired a wide experience at foreign courts by representing the Holy See as Nuncio. Plus a has, therefore, made a new departure in selecting Cardinal Van Rossum as his legate to the impending Eucharistic Congress at Vienna, since the question was until last December, inconspicuous member of the Order of Redemptorists, an order which, mostly composed of Germans, is nevertheless governed by an Irish general of the name of Father Patrick Murphy.

Though Father Van Rossum enjoyed in a marked degree the favor and confidence of Pius X, he was doubtless as surprised as any one else when he received the intimation toward the end of last November that he was to be elevated to the cardinalate, at the same time as the Archbishops of New York and Boston. He is not only most highly respected in the hierarchy, but, in manner, enjoys the distinction of being the first Dutchman to receive a seat in the Sacred College, in all its long and illustrious history, and Queen Wilhelmina was so gratified by the honor thus bestowed upon one of her faithful Catholic subjects, that she wrote a warm letter of thanks to the Pope.

The cardinal, who speaks German perfectly in about as good a manner with altogether royal honors at Vienna, fact, precisely as a papal legate were looked in older times by the Hapsburg Emperors. The venerable ruler of the dual empire is returning expressly to Vienna from his summer residence at Ischl, to welcome the legate, sending his own personal greetings for his conveyance from the frontier, where he will be received with full military honors, and a great display of court and state delegations. His escort to the capital, while through his stay there he is to be lodged in the Imperial Palace, a feature of the legate's visit is to be a cruise up the fairest portion of the Danube on the Emperor's yacht, and the people on both banks may receive the pontifical blessing.

In a word, this plain Father Van Rossum, eight months ago, is to be welcomed and entertained with a greater amount of honor, pomp and circumstance than that accorded to the several monarchs who have been guests of Francis Joseph since the beginning of the year.

Menzies, in the Old World as in the New, are actively engaged in a search to discover who among them is the rightful heir to the throne of the Scotch clan. There are quite a number of claimants to these distinctions, but the one who seems to have the best chance—if he can be found—is old Duncan Menzies, son of Donald Menzies, of Glenrath, Vienna. He was a member of the Scotch clan, and served as a coachman to one of the county families of Dumfriesshire, and it is said that when he left the Menzies, uncle of the last baronet, for nearly forty years the secretary of the Highland Society, met him on one occasion at the end of the agricultural show at Dumfries. He had a long talk with him, and strongly advised him to give his children a good education, preferably in view of the fact that one of them might be called upon to succeed to the family honors.

This interview took place about a generation ago, and according to recent investigations that have been in progress, old Duncan and his family have since emigrated to the United States or Canada. It is impossible to say where they are now.
